Changes to the Quebec public drug insurance plan: what you need to know

Dear <First name>,

We're writing with important information about your drug plan coverage.

The Quebec Ministry of Health announced a change to biosimilar drugs under the Quebec public drug insurance plan. The Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (RAMQ) will delist certain drugs (originator biologics) from its eligible drug list on April 13, 2022. You, or one of your dependents, made a claim within the last 120 days for one of the drugs targeted by RAMQ.

Learn more and view the biologics targeted by RAMQ by visiting the Quebec government's website: Quebec.ca/en/health

1. Choose Health system and services
2. Choose Biosimilar drugs
3. Choose Current situation regarding reimbursement

How this change may impact you

At this time, you will continue to have coverage for these drugs. Once RAMQ makes the change on April 13, 2022, depending on your workplace plan, your out-of-pocket costs may increase if you remain on the delisted drug.

If you decide to switch to a biosimilar, you will not have to provide a prior authorization form at this time.

Next steps

Please check in with your doctor. They'll:

- tell you more about your biosimilar option,
- help you decide if switching to your biosimilar option would be clinically effective and safe for you, and

Group Benefits are provided by Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, a member of the Sun Life group of companies.

- provide you with a new prescription if you switch.
