

Sunlife.ca is getting a fresh new look

Coming this November, the Sun Life website – www.sunlife.ca – will be getting a fresh new look. A bold new design, refreshed content and a new way to sign-in are just a few enhancements that are coming your way.

Financial wellness is at the heart of Sun Life's new website – as Canadians think about their financial future, the redesign is focused on making it easier for visitors to understand their options and feel optimistic about taking action towards managing their financial needs, for today and in retirement.

Easier to sign-in

Plan members will now be able to sign in right from sunlife.ca – from the homepage and from anywhere else across the site. Plan members who prefer to sign in through mysunlife.ca still can, we have simplified the sign-in screen to help them get where they need to go faster.

New design

Visitors to our site will enjoy a fresh, modern design, a simplified navigation and refreshed content. Be sure to look for a new life stages section to help navigate financial options – whether you're 'Starting out', 'Building' for the future, 'Pre-retirement' or in 'Retirement' – we're making it easier to plan for a brighter tomorrow through every life stage.

Refreshed content

The information found on the new sunlife.ca will showcase planning and advice that brings together relevant lifestyle articles from Brighter Life - our award winning content marketing platform - as well as tools and calculators to navigate Canadians through complex topics.

Information on the go

The redesign of sunlife.ca includes implementing a new, responsive platform that means Canadians will be able to learn about their financial planning needs wherever and whenever on desktop, mobile devices and tablet.

What about our other websites?

Plan members will still be able sign in to their Sun Life accounts from mysunlife.ca – in fact we've made it even easier by redesigning my Sun Life into a simple sign-in page. We're phasing out the BrighterLife.ca website, but if plan members are looking to read all the great Brighter Life articles they enjoy today, they can access them on sunlife.ca through the new Learn & Plan section.

Help signing in and customer support content related to submitting claims or printing a coverage card, will still be available so that plan members can get the help they need quickly and easily.

Spreading the news

The launch of the new site will take place late this November. Please share the news with your plan members.

Questions?

Contact your Sun Life Financial group benefits representative.