

Release of new Bright Paper— Specialty Drugs: Trends, Challenges and Solutions

Specialty drugs come at a high cost – often in the tens of thousands of dollars per claimant and sometimes much more. With many new drugs set to enter the market, and a research and development pipeline that is forecast to be increasingly dominated by specialty drugs, the cost pressures on drug plans will be unprecedented. As such, plan sponsors are looking to carriers for effective strategies to manage the costs of these drugs.

Our latest Bright Paper, entitled “Specialty Drugs: Trends, Challenges and Solutions” gives you a clear view of the specialty drug trend, including forecasts, potential impacts on plan costs and pooling and the steps you can take to help protect your plan.
