

Understanding My Coverage

Extending out-of-country coverage for students studying abroad

You may have a child currently studying outside of Canada, or one who is planning to. Based on travel advisories from the Government of Canada, here's how we're handling medical emergency coverage for students.

- If your child has an approved extension: If we approved extending their medical emergency coverage, we'll continue to honour the extension. We outlined the coverage period in your approval letter from us.
- If your child doesn't have an approved extension: They'll have coverage for the trip-duration limit outlined in your contract. For now, we're not extending coverage beyond the trip-duration limit. This is due to various travel advisories from the Government of Canada.

For all students, coverage ends on the date they reach the dependent student age limit. Your contract outlines this age limit.

What if my child gets COVID-19 while studying abroad?

We'll treat a medical emergency resulting from COVID-19 the same as any other medical emergency.
